

B-1 Baseline/starting point activity—Linda Westfall

An activity to help student leaders evaluate their climate and culture. Staff and administration can be included in this activity as well.

1. Purchase 10 or more throw away cameras. More if school population is larger or if you want to include staff.
 - a. (You may also use digital cameras or cell phone cameras, however the disposable cameras will ensure a finite number of pictures and for this reason the shots may be given more consideration.)
2. Hand out the cameras to students (staff) and ask them to take photos of what they believe their campus is all about.
3. Give them a week, then collect and process the photos.
4. Put the photos on poster board to be analyzed by your ASB students, administrators and staff.
5. It is amazing what insights you can get and you may end up with an outline of where you should start working on school climate.