

SOLVE STAFF RELATIONSHIP ISSUES!

RELATIONAL NEEDS WORKSHOP

Administrators agree that the gateway to amazing school culture is trust, but how can we gain that trust?

Relationships are the essential key to both trust, and any successful life experience. Without strong relationships, a school's cultural system will breakdown at its weakest links.

As a marriage and family therapist, JC Pohl has studied and refined a system for building relationships based on meeting each other's needs. This workshop is an intensive training that will clearly outline what relational needs are, and teach attendees how to use this new vocabulary to build stronger connections on campus, and in their daily lives.

This comprehensive program is ideal for elementary, middle, or high school staff members who want to build trust, open communication, and enhance relationships.

During this interactive experience your team will:

- ✓ Learn to understand and articulate their own relational needs
- ✓ Discover the immense value of meeting the needs of others
- ✓ Develop caring relationships, starting from a place of service
- ✓ Create a campus wide language that inspires community connection

RISING UP

- Coaching Program -

Social-emotional issues are present on every campus, but many schools are spread so thin that they can't reach every student who is in need. Our SEL curriculum builds student leadership opportunities for teens to mentor younger students and teach the life skills so desperately needed to develop resiliency.

"The RISING UP: Coaching Program has been a game changer for our students and our counseling program."

Jody Clark, School Counselor – Scoggins Middle School

The RISING UP: Coaching Program was designed to help school counselors extend guidance efforts across campus. In this peer-to-peer curriculum, staff members work with older students to "coach" younger students through various in-class or small group lessons. Based on a proven curriculum, with 10 interactive modules, a team of 20 – 30 coaches should be able to reach 300 – 600 students across the implementation of this program.

The coaches and students exposed to this curriculum will learn the importance of:

- Building Relationships & Understanding Self -
- Decision-Making & Goal Setting -
- Career & Family Exploration -
- Choices & Consequences -
- Overcoming Adversity & Building Resilience -
