John Aldworth	Tech Tips for Students	Too often, we assume students know everything about technology. While it is true they know a great deal and are typically more comfortable with it, they still have a lot to learn. Spend ten minutes with John Aldworth to learn about ways you can help refine your students' use of technology. Tips regarding social media and marketing will be shared.
Erin Andrade	Need Some Leadership Lessons? No Problem Mon!	Need some leadership/teamwork activities for your class curriculum? Learn about a variety of activities that you can take back with you! Complete lesson plans and culminating optional writing assignments for students that support critical thinking skills and reflection will be included.
Scott Backovich	Activities that Engage Everyone	Tired of only certain groups of students at your school participating in on-campus activities? Sick of begging students to take part in the culture of your school? Let's bring the action to them! This roundtable will feature dozens of activities you can directly take back to your school to make sure every student is involved.
Elizabeth Bauer-Liscum	Mindful Leadership	Ever wonder how to bring the Zen back into your leadership class!?!? Do you feel like your class is running a marathon each and every day? This presentation will give you ideas to incorporate mindfulness into your Leadership program to create a more meaningful experience for all members to learn about themselves, their peers and create change!
Joanna Butcher	Night Rally Class Competition and Make $6500	Class Competitions/Olympics-you all do it so let's turn it into a fundraiser and make some money. Change the time of year, make it a desired event to be part of and sell some cheap tickets. Gain access to shared folders for how to judge/track events, sell t-shirts & tickets, drawing teams, schedule practices, and gain buy-in from staff.
Raven Coit	Slow Your Roll: Shifting School Culture Incrementally	In my school, tradition is paramount. How do we shift our culture, to modernize, to refresh, to include more diversity, without disrespecting tradition or alienating the "how we've always done it" crowd? Come learn how we have gently shifted our traditions to become more inclusive, more kind, and more representative of our values and vision.
Linda Cooper	Fun Weeks to Involve your Whole Campus	Come see and hear about fun weeks to do between Homecomings such as Club Rush Week, MultiCultural Week, Spring Fling Olympics, Kindness Week, and much more. Find ways to involve the interests of the students on your campus. Learn how to update your program to continue to grow with new activities for everyone.
Cheryl Garcia	ASB Final Project	The focus will be on how to implement an ASB Final Project with your leaders. This workshop will provide a handout to use to instruct your leaders in how to complete an ASB project as their final grade in ASB.
Stephanie Gibson	PBL in the Leadership Class	Meaningful Leadership class curriculum is vital in order to support our students as they grow and develop their own leadership skills and styles. We will explore what PBL looks like in the Leadership class based on a unit for The 7 Habits of Highly Effective Teens.
Jimmy Gleich	Love Your Staff	Need help and ideas getting your faculty and staff to be more active in activities? Of course you do! This quick session will give you lots of fun and creative ways to get your staff involved and feeling the love.
Dinah Greene	A First Day of School to Bolt For	Don't stick with the same ole first day! Start the new year off where you can tell the staff Don't Worry and all the students will Be Happy! I'm telling you mon, come see how to put on a great first day with options and all the details. I promise they will be talking about this day for the rest of their lives.
Scott Mendelson	Fundraising Ideas for the Clueless	Are you tired of always worrying about your budget? Do you measure the amount of duct tape they use? Have no fear! This quick session is just the thing you are looking for! Hear over 50 fundraising ideas that are sure to put money in your coffer!

Darlene Johnson	Fiscal $ense From an ASB Bookkeeper	As a bookkeeper since 1999, my knowledge of the position can help make your job as the ASB Director an easier one. Let me show you how to handle fundraisers, purchases, donations as well as special events. More importantly, let my savvy keep you within the guidelines to have a fiscally sound ASB, each and everyday.
Kara Johnson	The Power of Pinterest	Pinterest can be a powerful asset in the ASB classroom. As the teacher/moderator you can give students collaboration access, send group messages, and have multiple students working together to pin ideas to a board. Pinterest gives you the ability to store all of your ideas in one place and have easy access both at school and home.
Dana Johnston	Freedom 4 Change	Create a school culture where everyone walks the campus with a philosophy that we all have a story and we all have struggles, however while on our campus, each of us are accepted and celebrated. Our students take their peers through team-building, character building and sensitivity activities.
Kim Karr	Team Building - Together We Are Powerful	When people make a connection and work together they are more powerful. Come learn some new activities that will help unite your students and staff. Walk away with some quick easy lessons you can use right away in your classroom. Together We Are More Powerful!
Patrick Maurer	Active Appreciation: Recognition that Resonates	Far too often thank you and recognition programs are afterthoughts or saved for the conclusion of events. Find out how to make three main shifts in your approach that can actually build relationships and increase involvement.
Joe McMahon	Grab Bag of Information	Come by and get useful curriculum, events, and ideas, obtained from 13 years of leadership experience.
Keala Hughes	Appreciation Week - Easy & Affordable	This step by step, comprehensive workshop shows how to implement an appreciation program that has seniors surprisingly deliver a letter of appreciation to any adult K thru 12th grade in their cap and gown, and in front of the honoree's current class. Come be inspired, encouraged, and learn how to implement this powerful event at your own school.
Ra'idah Noohu	Empathy, Changemaking, and Social Entrepreneurship	My Name My Story is an organization that develops changemakers based on the belief that stories inspire empathy, and empathy drives change. We deliver curriculum to middle and high school students to teach them 21st Century skills of empathy, teamwork, and innovation in order to create the next generation of changemakers.
Jennifer Pfeffer	Student of the Month-Revised and Dynamic	Take your Student of the Month program to the next level. Instead of recognizing a select few, transform your program to recognize one kid per Staffulty member per month personally and publicly. Session includes how to set it up, run the admin portion flawlessly, and tricks we learned as we implemented the program at 3 sites.
Erin Riley	ASB Survival Guide	The presentation will cover Communication, Collaboration and Care during your first few years as an Activities Director. The goal is to create an environment where Activities Directors can network, share ideas and figure out how to balance out your life!
Elena Rodriguez	Renaissance and ASB Working in Harmony	Learn how Renaissance and ASB can work hand in hand to have a large impact on your campus. Quite often, there can be a bit of a division and competition between these two groups, but when you bring them together they can become an unstoppable force. Learn how to share the responsibilities between the groups to maximize outcomes when doing so.
"Original" Mike Smith	Working With People	Today every job has a "working with people" component. Sometimes you will be the designated leader and sometimes not, but understanding the simple mechanics of helping individuals to work well together will make the task more pleasant and the result better. This discussion highlights an 8 Step Checklist for Maximizing Collaboration.
Mary Jane Smith	Creating Weekly Leadership Lessons...No Problem!	Finding it hard to fit in weekly leadership lessons? Need some ideas to create easy lessons that don't require a lot of your time? Come learn some quick and easy ways to incorporate leadership lessons into your class each week.
Vanessa Tharp	300 Tips and Tricks for Success!	Surviving your first few years of being in the wild and crazy world of leadership can be a challenge. I'd love to support you and share some of the helpful hints I've learned along the way! I'll share insights of over a decade of leadership as an educator; I will also share my list of over 300 Must Have Ideas! A session for all levels of advisors.
Erin Tobias	Leadership Hacks for All Islands	Think Smarter, Not Harder! How to set up your ASB program so it runs itself. Set up systems and put organization into place so you keep your sanity and your students know what to do every day. Learn tricks that work for me that I have learned the hard way!
