DHS Success with Twitterless work for you...

Students Tweet Out- I do not...

- I have three different leadership classes and they all have different groups of friends. I have them tweet out the same message.
- This has shown success because the message is coming from a student to a student and it seems to create a special hype for our events.
- The message is the same across the board but reaches most all our students.

If you've ever used Twitter, you know that you have 140 characters to say whatever you want to say. Now keep in mind, I didn't say 140 words—or even 140 letters—I said 140 characters. That's not a lot of room. Letters, numbers, symbols, punctuation and spaces all count as characters on Twitter.

EXAMPLE of 140 characters

Bring cans for the canned food drive tomorrow morning at any main entrance gate and get a pass to get out of class for lunch 5 minutes early

Good morning, just a friendly reminder to send me your basketball homecoming nominations by THIS FRIDAY. We are hoping this new set up (with no rally) will help relieve some of the burden and at the same time involve more of the campus. Thank you for all your work.-ASB STUDENT COUNCIL THIS WED.

January 11, 2016 at 8:22 AM • Sent to 5 classes

Delivered

What I use it for....

- ASB meeting reminders
- Homecoming to contact all king and queen candidates for rehearsal times.
- Volunteer reminders
- Take pictures and send
- Really any time you need to send out information to a certain group of kids- comes as a text to them and they can chat back if they have a question
